We doubt whether there is anything in it the history of statesmanship, the world ser, so sumarishe as Jefferson's development of the fixture and tendencies of Ameran slavery and its fate in the far fixture. It was not satisfied with hying down meral principles in regard to it, as he had one in the Beclaration of Independence ad in his other writings in defense of autian rights, isad in deaundalise of tyraminy and oppression. He went still further, and shayes the theomystitility of these rinciples with the particular wrongs of the African glave in America. He never oncealed his conviction that clavery was a outrage upon justice that dought to be rrested and abolished at the earliest moment possible. In his "Note on Viving to man's loyalty that can be universally written in 1781 and 1782, p. 124 he says; "Under the mild treatment our shave experience, and their wholesome, though coarse food this blat on our work of the whole to the time of the first wholesome, though coarse food this blat on our work of the coarse food that the wholesome, though coarse food this blat on our work of the coarse food that the wholesome, though coarse food the best of the coarse work in the time of the food of the regal government, which imposed such a duty on the importation of alayse, as amounted nearly to a prohibition, when one inconsiderate assembly, placed under a peculiarily of circumstance, repealed the law. Will the Democratic legislators at Bringfield, who are trying to bolster up alavery, which the man whom they claim as the founder of their party, thus propounced acquired—will they look at these things and lay them to heart? Will the people of Illimois pur themselves in the position of Virginia and the standard of the standar draw upon themselves the wrath of Heaven by assisting to enslave, persecute and oppress the poor victims of sharely who seek their shores and ask their protection? We have too high an opinion of their justice and magnanimity to believe it, and we warm those legislators at Springfield, who, "Drawed is a little, before support to be ware of the speedy vangeance of the people, as well as of the sternal infumy they are thus earning for themselves."

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue says that a considerable revenue is derived from the tax of half a cut per pound on cotton—the practice amount of which he is, however, at prisent unable to give—and he thinks that the tax might profitably and advantageously be increased. Over 100 have been removed from the boat to-day to the hospitals at Memphis, and it is not yet decided whether the others shall be left here, or taken above.

The evere weather of the past few dayafter rain and snow have largely increased the sick in Gen. Mea'thur's, Gen. Quimby's and Gen. Logan's divisions. The boundais here are crowded. There is a demand for all the annitary stores that can be furnished. Multi-tudes for our sick and wounded solidiers owe a large debt of gratifunds to the Chicago Commission for the timely and valuable supplies furnished. And after the most diligent in-quiry and extensive observation is many of our hospitals, I am persuaded that no agency is so sheep, reliable, capable, and efficient in caring for the wants of our soldiers as our Smitary Commissions. They must be analained. I have distributed recently in the hospitals and among the reginarula at Cairo, Columbus, Fort Pillow, Memphis, LaGrange, Jackson and Corinth, &c. averal hundred delines worth of the publications of the American Tract Society of Boston, for the noddlers. They have been received with eager-ross and thanfulness. G. B. F. Savasa.

the public not to receive them as currency as in case they do, they are receiving nothing but worthless dirty blank paper.

THRAYRE—The Florence finish their engagement this crening, with the "Toodies," "Limerick Boy" and "Miss Eily O'Conner"—Florence and McVicker appearing in the latter as the "Two Brides of Garryowen," their make up being most effective, and each striving to display his charms to the best advantage. On Monday, the celebrated tragic extrema Emma Waller, commences an engage-unde, and indulged in panegyrics of Seymour and Richardson, universally and atudiously attempting to prove they were not trailors, swearing fealty to the Constitution and abusing the Administration. Their paneers for the condition of the country was the exaltation of the Democratic party into power; but curiously enough, no speaker developed any plan by which that party would end the war or preserve the Union when it gets into power. As Jeff. Davis and his executive officers, the rebel States through their Legislatures, and the rebel press without exception declare that a reconstruction upon any terms is impossible.
